

HANGMEN AUDITION

HARRY

HARRY. See, now you're trying to come the smartarse again, aren't ya, like before. Everybody knows Albert Pierrepoint did shitloads, but Pierrepoint did a shitload of Germans both during and after the war, so there should be a bit of an asterisk against some of his numbers at the very least. Albert were doing fifteen to twenty of those bastards a day, after the trials got going proper, and I'd've been happy to lend a hand, I would, but Pierrepoint had that entire scene sewn up, didn't he? He wouldn't let us get a look in edgeways and I'd've been happy to hang some Germans, I'd've been chuffed. I never liked them before the war, let alone during. The accent alone...
